

LOVE IS LOVE

ABUSE IS ABUSE

DV in the LGBTQ+ Community

Intimate partner violence (IPV) can affect everyone, regardless of gender, gender expression, age, or sexual orientation. With June being Pride Month, we want to highlight the prevalence of IPV in the LGBT population.

According to the CDC:

- Lesbian and bisexual women are significantly more likely than heterosexual women to have ever experienced intimate partner violence in their lifetime, with 61% of bisexual women, and 44% of lesbian women reporting occurrences, compared with 35% of straight women.
- 37% of gay and bisexual men, versus 29% of heterosexual men, have experienced IPV in their lifetime.
- Transgender people experience IPV at rates higher than their cisgender peers. An analysis of the 2015 United States Transgender Survey found that 54% of all trans and non-binary people have experienced IPV at some point in their lifetimes.

In addition to shame and embarrassment, LGBTQ+ individuals that experience domestic violence may be less likely to report abuse due to factors like societal stigma, fear of discrimination, and concerns about potential consequences of "outing" themselves.

At Three Birds Alliance, our doors are open to anyone seeking assistance or emergency shelter due to domestic violence regardless of gender, sexual orientation or sexual identity.

In The Community

Colorado Spartans

Three Birds Alliance was honored to be one of a handful of nonprofits invited to the final home game of the Colorado Spartans arena football team.

After visiting with numerous game attendees in the lobby of the Denver Coliseum and sharing information about the services offered at Three Birds Alliance, staff members were led onto the arena field to be recognized by Colorado Spartans owner Tony Thompson for the outstanding work being done in our community for domestic violence survivors.

Aurora Chamber Foundation Wine Walk at Southlands

On June 18th, Three Birds Alliance participated in a wonderful and unique event by invitation from the Aurora Chamber of Commerce.

While attendees wandered the streets at Southlands between wine and beer tasting stations, many stopped by our booth to learn about Three Birds Alliance and the services we provide in the city of Aurora. And we were happy to share information with them about our very own wine tasting event!

We are grateful to be part of such a curious and caring community.

Gratitude Corner

Signature Aviation

We are incredibly grateful to Aaron Bergman, General Manager at Signature Aviation, for organizing and hosting a donation drive for the clients staying with us in shelter.

Aaron presented our organization with a donation of hundreds of full-size bottles of shampoo and other hygiene products for women and teen boys.

We are thankful to Signature Aviation remembering the clients we serve.

SHE Leads

We are happy to once again be the recipient of the SHE Leads Group of Denver's Purse Project.

Every year SHE Leads Group members collect and donate new and gently used purses filled with personal care and hygiene items for women who are victims of domestic violence or are otherwise homeless.

Group organizer, Elizabeth Boen, delivered over 30 filled purses to our shelter in support of the women in our care.

We are truly grateful for our partnership with the SHE Leads Purse Project.
